

SUICIDE'S WIFE FINDS HIS BODY AND RUNS AWAY

Two Doctors at Different Times Formally Declare
the Man Dead.

A wife's flight following her discovery that her husband had committed suicide by gas made it necessary for two physicians to pronounce the man dead before Coroner Acritelli would order his body removed to the morgue to-day.

Mrs. Mary Reiche, with her one-year-old child, left the Reiche apartments, No. 1231 Second avenue, last night to visit her mother, who lives in the neighborhood. She returned at 10 o'clock. The husband, Charles, a young man, recently employed in tunnel work, was stretched out on the floor with a tube extending from a jet into his mouth. She called Dr. Saxl of No. 24 East Seventy-second street, who pronounced him dead.

Mrs. Reiche hurriedly picked up her child, packed a satchel, locked up the flat and rushed to her mother's home, the police suppose. When the Coroner arrived he was unable to gain an entrance. To-day he broke in the door with Detective Ball. Dr. Decker, of Presbyterian Hospital, was called to pronounce the man dead a second time.

The widow, who is not yet twenty years old, is sought by the police. It is thought that despondency, accompanying his inability to secure work, prompted the man's act.

DRAMA BY PRIEST MAKES SOME GASP

Celebration of Mass Is Principal Scene in Play From Pen of Rev. L. J. Vaughan.

CHICAGO, May 5.—Glimpses of astonishment came from an audience composed largely of Roman Catholics when the curtain was lifted on the second scene of Rev. L. J. Vaughan's play, "A Woman of the West," produced in the Bush Temple Theatre last night. The interior of a Catholic church, showing the altar and an actor in the vestments of a priest performing the ceremonies of the mass, was presented and continued for almost three minutes.

As the curtain arose upon the novel scene a burst of applause came from the audience, but none came from a dozen Catholic priests who were present.

The play is of the melodramatic order, with comedy touches and original situations. The leading character is enacted by Mrs. Annie Mack Berlier, who twenty years ago was a member of the theatrical company in which the present author was an actor.

Father Vaughan said he had not consulted with his superiors in reference to the depiction of the mass upon the stage.

"It is simply a picture," he said, "a living painting, and should offend no one any more than a representation of the same thing in water colors or oils. The subject is handled reverently and the matter of the play and in the acting, I hope it will lead people to think rather than to criticize."

The character of the priest in the drama was played by G. R. Price, a nephew of Father Vaughan, under the stage name of George Roberts.

Albert Stickney, sixty-nine years old, of No. 318 Madison avenue, is dead at Greenwich, Conn., after a three-weeks' illness from a complication of diseases. He was a member of the law firm of Stickney, Mealey & McBurney, and for forty years was prominent in important litigation in this city.

He was born in Boston and began the practice of law after serving through the Civil War as colonel of the Forty-seventh Massachusetts. He represented the Bar Association in the impeachment proceedings against Judge Barnard, of the Supreme Court, and was leading counsel for the defense in the famous Jacob Shubert bribery case.

He was also an author, and wrote a number of books, including "A Lawyer and His Clients," "A True Republic" and "The Transvaal Outlook."

ALBERT STICKNEY DEAD.

Upward of 400 members of the forty-eight Grand Army posts in New York City made camp at the Hippodrome last night, where they were enthusiastic supporters of the battle war in the "Battle of Fort Arthur." Later they applauded the ballet and circus acts.

Gen. Horace Porter occupied one of the boxes with a party of friends, and the staff of Gen. Fred D. Grant was in another. Other soldiers of note present were Gen. A. C. McCook and S. S. Woodford. During the intermissions the orchestra played patriotic airs.

G. A. R. MEN AT HIPPODROME.

Upward of 400 members of the forty-eight Grand Army posts in New York City made camp at the Hippodrome last night, where they were enthusiastic supporters of the battle war in the "Battle of Fort Arthur." Later they applauded the ballet and circus acts.

Gen. Horace Porter occupied one of the boxes with a party of friends, and the staff of Gen. Fred D. Grant was in another. Other soldiers of note present were Gen. A. C. McCook and S. S. Woodford. During the intermissions the orchestra played patriotic airs.

To Keep All the Profits of Your Labors:

Get a store, market, hotel, cafe, restaurant, cigar stand or other money making enterprise of your own.

WORLD
"Business Opportunity"
Advt. Show Where

"Aida" Well Presented at The American Theatre

Abramson's Company Gives an Astonishingly Good Performance.

BY SYLVESTER RAWLING.

IVAN ABRAMSON began his season of Italian opera at the American Theatre last night most auspiciously. His Italian Grand Opera Company gave a surprisingly good performance of "Aida." All the principal singers were capable, the chorus was competent and the orchestra played valiantly under the direction of Fornari.

There was over-strenuousness sometimes, but the earnestness and zeal of all the participants caught the fancy of the audience, which manifested its approval, not only by many ovations after each act, but by applause at every opportunity.

Desana, who is a stranger here, made a hit in the title part. Her voice is of good quality throughout, and it is powerful and expressive. Her fault—a grievous one—was that she sang very slightly at the audience. She is young and of most attractive appearance.

Samolov was an excellent Radames both in voice and action. He and Desana sang the duet in the Nile scene most effectively, and when they were joined by Arcangel, as Amosaro, there was no falling off in quality. Boszano sang Radames very well, and Oteri was a satisfactory Kamek. Canio, as Amneris, did not make as deep an impression as Desana and Samolov, but her performance was creditable, nevertheless. Vanni was the messenger.

With the small stage and inadequate scenery it was impossible to make the pageantry imposing, but Fornari and the stage manager did good work with the forces at their command. The scene at the Gate of Thebes went well, the trumpets even keeping in time and the finale was inspiring. A word of mention, too, must be made of the artistic singing of the final duet in the crypt. To-night "Lucia" is the bill.

ATHLETE GONE, PAY-FOLL CASH MISSING, TOO

"Jim" Tevan Disappears After
Going to Bank and Police
Hunt for Him.

The police are watching the Flatbush home of J. H. Tevan, secretary of the American Book Company, to-day, and if his son "Jim" Tevan, the noted athlete, puts in an appearance he will be arrested. He is charged by the Pittsburgh police with embezzlement.

Young Tevan has been in Pittsburgh for the past year, acting as bookkeeper for the Bank Wagner Pump and Supply Company. On Saturday he went to the bank and drew several hundred dollars for the weekly payroll, and has not been seen since. Yesterday his employers communicated with the police, and those of New York and other cities where the young man has friends have been asked to watch for him.

Tevan has won laurels on several athletic fields. In 1906 he won the quarter-mile Junior Metropolitan championship and later went to Canada and annexed a Canadian title. In that year he won more than sixty events. At the beginning of the war with Spain he enlisted with the Ninth Infantry and was promoted to the rank of sergeant while in the Philippines.

ALLEGED HOTEL BEAT ARRESTED IN BROADWAY.

Saunders Ran When Clerk to Whom He Offered Check
Called a Detective.

Charged with defrauding hotels by means of worthless checks, a well-dressed young man, who says he is Percy K. Saunders, of Battle Creek, Mich., was arraigned in Jefferson Market Police Court to-day.

When Saunders, under which name he was registered at the Hotel Imperial, tried to cash a check there last night, leaving another check for a larger amount to cover his account at the hotel, the clerk became suspicious. A man calling himself Harvey O. Francis worked the Hotel Breslin a similar transaction several days ago.

The Hotel Imperial clerk sent for the Hotel Breslin detective. The man who wanted to cash the checks became suspicious and hot-footed it out on Broadway. He was caught in the Imperial in the man's room at the Imperial was a letter addressed to Mrs. Jean Francis, Battle Creek, Mich.

SOMMERS WHERE FASHION REIGNS A Clearance Sale of 1,000 Spring Suits For Women and Misses Beginning Wednesday at 8.30 A. M. Every Known Fashionable Fabric and Style

15.00 17.50 25.00 29.50
Wholesale Values $25.00 to $60.00

CALLER SISTER, DRANK "POISON," THEN RAN AWAY

Doty's Mother Fears He's Dead; Joke Say Police, and Father Gets Shingle.

John Doty, fifteen years old, of No. 123 James street, Newark, called his younger sister, Nettie, to him to-day and said:

"Now is when I am going to end this business," and he showed a bottle labelled "Poison." He raised the bottle to his lips and added: "Here goes."

As the boy drained the bottle he fell writhing to the floor and his sister screamed. A doctor was called, and young Doty was being examined when he suddenly rose to his feet and leaped out of the second-story window. The boy's father, Henry Doty, called the police and asked that they help find his son.

"He may be dead," said the father, "and it may be only one of John's jokes. He is giving to joking. He is one of those practical jokers."

The police scattered about the neighborhood, when John suddenly appeared at home. "Where are the police who are looking for me?" he asked his distracted mother.

The boy went forth to look for the police. If he isn't dead when found next time there will be doing in the Doty household. The police believe young Doty is still whetting his keen sense of humor. The mother believes her son is dead. The father is awaiting developments and the little sister Nettie is in tears.

John Doty, fifteen years old, of No. 123 James street, Newark, called his younger sister, Nettie, to him to-day and said:

"Now is when I am going to end this business," and he showed a bottle labelled "Poison." He raised the bottle to his lips and added: "Here goes."

As the boy drained the bottle he fell writhing to the floor and his sister screamed. A doctor was called, and young Doty was being examined when he suddenly rose to his feet and leaped out of the second-story window. The boy's father, Henry Doty, called the police and asked that they help find his son.

John Doty, fifteen years old, of No. 123 James street, Newark, called his younger sister, Nettie, to him to-day and said:

"Now is when I am going to end this business," and he showed a bottle labelled "Poison." He raised the bottle to his lips and added: "Here goes."

John Doty, fifteen years old, of No. 123 James street, Newark, called his younger sister, Nettie, to him to-day and said:

"Now is when I am going to end this business," and he showed a bottle labelled "Poison." He raised the bottle to his lips and added: "Here goes."

John Doty, fifteen years old, of No. 123 James street, Newark, called his younger sister, Nettie, to him to-day and said:

"Now is when I am going to end this business," and he showed a bottle labelled "Poison." He raised the bottle to his lips and added: "Here goes."

John Doty, fifteen years old, of No. 123 James street, Newark, called his younger sister, Nettie, to him to-day and said:

"Now is when I am going to end this business," and he showed a bottle labelled "Poison." He raised the bottle to his lips and added: "Here goes."

John Doty, fifteen years old, of No. 123 James street, Newark, called his younger sister, Nettie, to him to-day and said:

"Now is when I am going to end this business," and he showed a bottle labelled "Poison." He raised the bottle to his lips and added: "Here goes."

John Doty, fifteen years old, of No. 123 James street, Newark, called his younger sister, Nettie, to him to-day and said:

"Now is when I am going to end this business," and he showed a bottle labelled "Poison." He raised the bottle to his lips and added: "Here goes."

John Doty, fifteen years old, of No. 123 James street, Newark, called his younger sister, Nettie, to him to-day and said:

"Now is when I am going to end this business," and he showed a bottle labelled "Poison." He raised the bottle to his lips and added: "Here goes."

John Doty, fifteen years old, of No. 123 James street, Newark, called his younger sister, Nettie, to him to-day and said:

"Now is when I am going to end this business," and he showed a bottle labelled "Poison." He raised the bottle to his lips and added: "Here goes."

John Doty, fifteen years old, of No. 123 James street, Newark, called his younger sister, Nettie, to him to-day and said:

"Now is when I am going to end this business," and he showed a bottle labelled "Poison." He raised the bottle to his lips and added: "Here goes."

John Doty, fifteen years old, of No. 123 James street, Newark, called his younger sister, Nettie, to him to-day and said:

"Now is when I am going to end this business," and he showed a bottle labelled "Poison." He raised the bottle to his lips and added: "Here goes."

John Doty, fifteen years old, of No. 123 James street, Newark, called his younger sister, Nettie, to him to-day and said:

"Now is when I am going to end this business," and he showed a bottle labelled "Poison." He raised the bottle to his lips and added: "Here goes."

John Doty, fifteen years old, of No. 123 James street, Newark, called his younger sister, Nettie, to him to-day and said:

"Now is when I am going to end this business," and he showed a bottle labelled "Poison." He raised the bottle to his lips and added: "Here goes."

John Doty, fifteen years old, of No. 123 James street, Newark, called his younger sister, Nettie, to him to-day and said:

"Now is when I am going to end this business," and he showed a bottle labelled "Poison." He raised the bottle to his lips and added: "Here goes."

John Doty, fifteen years old, of No. 123 James street, Newark, called his younger sister, Nettie, to him to-day and said:

"Now is when I am going to end this business," and he showed a bottle labelled "Poison." He raised the bottle to his lips and added: "Here goes."

John Doty, fifteen years old, of No. 123 James street, Newark, called his younger sister, Nettie, to him to-day and said:

"Now is when I am going to end this business," and he showed a bottle labelled "Poison." He raised the bottle to his lips and added: "Here goes."

John Doty, fifteen years old, of No. 123 James street, Newark, called his younger sister, Nettie, to him to-day and said:

"Now is when I am going to end this business," and he showed a bottle labelled "Poison." He raised the bottle to his lips and added: "Here goes."

McCUTCHEON'S "The Linen Store"

Fine Imported White Materials For Graduation and Commencement Dresses.

Embracing a very choice and complete collection of suitable fabrics.

French and Alpine Lawns) at 40c., 50c.,
Chiffon and Yarn Mercerized Batiste) 60c., 75c. to $1.00
Persian Lawns at 20c., 25c., 35c., 40c., 50c., 60c. to $1.00
India Mulls at 50c.; 75c., $1.00, $1.20.
Silk Mulls and Air Line Cloth, 75c., 95c., $1.25.
Organdies and Swisses, 50c., 60c., 75c., $1.00
Sheer Handkerchief Linens, 50c., 60c., 75c., $1.00 to 10.00 per yd., in the different weights and widths.
Fine Hand Loom Embroidered French Batiste and Plumetis at 85c., $1.10, 1.25 to 2.50.
St. Gall Swisses, 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. to $1.75.
Sheer Embroidered French Handkerchief Linen at $1.00, 1.35, 1.50 to 3.50. In a variety of dots, plain and fancy stripes, Jacquard Figures and Conventional Floral designs, many of which are confined to us.

5th Ave. & 34th St., Opposite
Waldorf-Astoria

M. & M. ROCH

Tailored Trimmed Hats
Smartly Trimmed Shapes. Exceptional Value.
3.50 4.95 6.50
Value $7.50 Value $8.50 Value $10.00

Untrimmed Hats
BLACK NEAPOLITAN HAIR and BURNED NEW
Pebble Braid, Dress Shapes and Sailors. Value $3.50 1.95
EXTRA LARGE DRESS SHAPES,
Black French Chip. Value $4.50 2.50

Imported Dress Shapes
From Best Paris Makers.
None Obtainable Elsewhere.
3.95 to 15.00

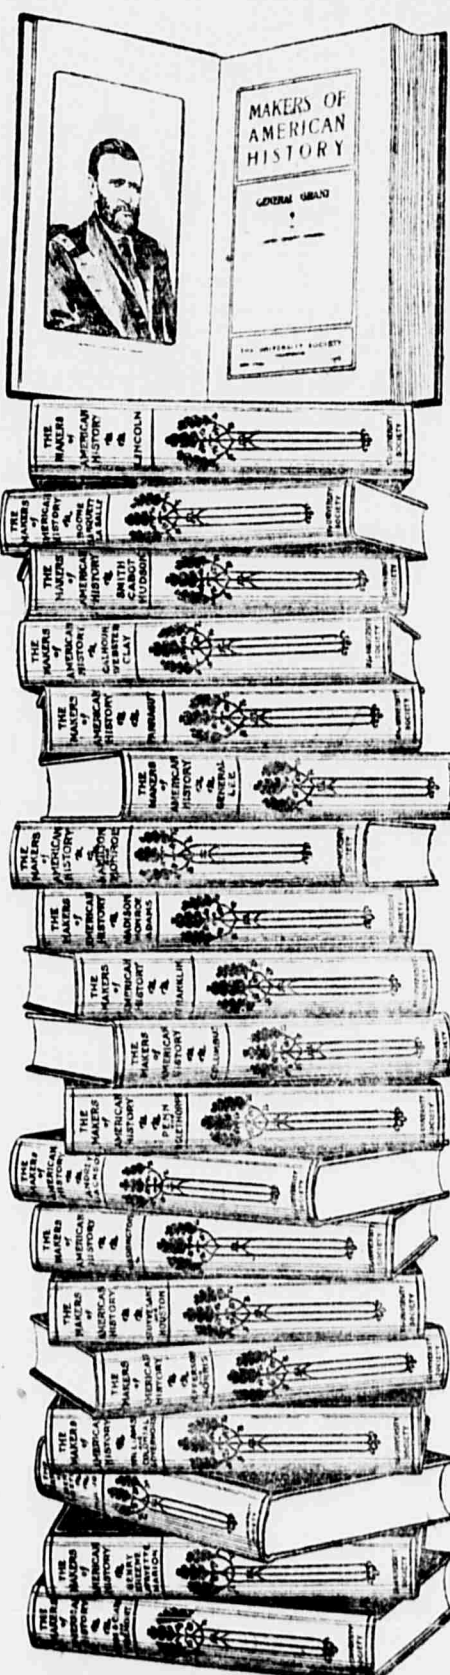

About the only "guessing" feature there is to a World "For Sale" Ad is: "Who will get the bargain by getting there first?"

B. Altman & Co.

WOMEN'S SHOES OF BLACK, TAN AND WHITE LEATHERS.
LOW CUT SHOES OF TAN AND GREY OXZ. LEATHER,
TAN AND BLACK RUSSIA CALFSKIN, WHITE AND BLACK
BUCKSKIN, AND PATENT LEATHER.

COMPLETE OUTFITS OF WOMEN'S FOOTWEAR FOR THE SEASON

34th Street, 35th Street and 5th Avenue.

20 BEAUTIFUL VOLUMES.
29 ABLE AUTHORS.
42 COMPLETE BIOGRAPHIES.

Broadway at Thirteenth St. HACKETT, CARHART & CO. Women's Department

An Epochal Tailored Suit Event For Women and Misses

Every Garment Fashioned from Finest Foreign Materials Bought at a Tremendous Sacrifice From One of the Largest Importers. Designed and Tailored by Our Own Custom Tailoring Organization.

On sale at $20 and $30 value $50 & $75

IN the ordinary course of business it would be impossible to make such an offering. Fabrics such as these bought at regular price could not be made into custom tailored suits like these for less than $50 and $75.

The illustration shows but two of the many exquisite style developments, revealing a grace of line and chic that only the best craftsmanship can incorporate.

The materials are the products of the most famous looms from abroad, taking form in that summer weight worsted known as batiste. The color schemes are infinite—besides plain black, blue and brown, there are hair lines, pencil stripes, half inch stripes, two tones three tones, overplaid, club checks, pin head checks in every tone and shade from one end of the spectrum to the other, made in all sizes for women and misses.

Every Suit of Imported Material For 2% on Valuation—FUR STORAGE

SUNDAY WORLD WANTS WORK WONDERS

REMARKABLE SACRIFICE SALE OF HURT BOOKS

We offer to-day to readers of "The World" a few slightly rubbed sets of the "Makers of American History," the best and most interesting library of biography ever published. These sets are not noticeably damaged; in fact, an expert could hardly tell the difference. Here and there a volume may show a slight discoloration or other blemish, but there are no torn or soiled pages, and for all practical purposes the sets are as good as new. We wish to clear our stock room, and extend to readers of this paper the first chance at what we have on hand. This is a grand opportunity for mail-order buyers. Send in your own request and mention the matter to any you think may be interested.

"Makers of American History"

By Gen. James Grant Wilson, Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, Capt. A. T. Mahan, Prof. W. G. Sumner, Prof. R. H. Thurston, James Schouler, and other famous writers.

This set of books will introduce to you the heroes and patriots of American history. Each biography is a story in itself—written in plain, simple narrative style—yet the series as a whole presents a complete picture of American history from Columbus down to Grant. This is just the kind of historical information that the average man needs. It gives history in its most interesting form. For an hour's pleasant reading or for serious study, no other work will compare with this. The stirring lives and deeds of our great American heroes are nowhere equalled in fiction.

Read what a Chicago clergyman says: "It is very fascinating reading, and gives an American citizen a deeper appreciation of the sacrifices that were made to found and frame this government. I deem these books especially valuable for young people. They give a vivid and lasting impression, which is of great value in historical studies."—Rev. M. P. Boynton, D. D.

Just See How Easy the Terms Are

These fine books, the subscription price of which is $30.00, we now offer at $19.50, payable $1.00 on acceptance and $1.00 a month thereafter. The set consists of twenty volumes, 7 1/2 by 5 1/2 inches, printed on the finest paper, enriched with beautiful portraits and other illustrations, maps, plans, etc., and bound in attractive and serviceable cloth buckram. It contains 42 complete biographies—in all 1,700 pages of interesting and instructive reading.

FREE--For Five Days

Detach and mail the accompanying coupon promptly and we will send a complete set for five days' examination, free of all charge. You do not pay a cent or obligate yourself in any way. If the books are not satisfactory, return them at our expense. Sets will be held for future delivery if request is made promptly.

Don't overlook this opportunity. Mail the coupon NOW—before you forget it.

The University Society

78 Fifth Avenue, New York City

Name.....
Address.....